BUSINESS RELATIONSHIP

Following an approach by Strive, Strider engaged us on a retained search basis, after being impressed by our outreach, our experience and also from referencing us in the market.

Strider needed support with a key executive hire, which they had been struggling to fill for some time due to the experience required and the niche candidate pool.

As part of the offering, Strive mapped the market, produced a full market report with recommendations and used innovative techniques to maximise candidate engagement.

CANDIDATE FEEDBACK.

I am writing to highly recommend Strive as a recruiter for technology executives. Strive were a pleasure to work with and I couldn't be more impressed with their level of communication and attention to detail.

They were consistently in touch with me, providing updates and information throughout the entire process. Even in slow moments during the interview process, they made sure to reach out to keep communication going. They went above and beyond to make sure I felt comfortable and informed every step of the way.

Scheduling interviews was a breeze thanks to their flexibility and willingness to work around my schedule. Even when key staff were on vacation, they made sure to check in with me to ensure everything was going smoothly. This level of dedication is truly impressive and it helped me to trust that he knew what he was doing.

I would not hesitate to recommend Strive to anyone looking for a technology executive role. They are skilled and professional recruiters who truly care about their candidates.
