be smart and have a plan.

If you're looking to get into creative, be smart, don't just fly your CV out to every single agency and hope for the best, go after a few and be smart about it!

have those conversations.

Don't be afraid to reach out to people to have conversations... and always have self belief. It's important to remember that you deserve to be there.

get out there and meet people.

Network as much as you can. It is amazing how many free events there are within the creative industries. You never know who you might meet.
